Trombetta win OEMnie Award – Development of ISE610

Menomonee Falls, WI - Trombetta recently has been awarded the 2002 OEMnie award for the development and introduction of the ISE610.

The OEMnie award is a prestigious award given to component supplier companies serving the OEM off-highway marketplace. Each company must submit a nomination form that describes how and why the product was developed along with how the product provides a unique solution or will increase equipment performance. This year there was over 50 entries in the component category and Trombetta's ISE610 was one of seven entries picked as the 2002 winners.

OEM Off-Highway Magazine presented Trombetta with this award on Tuesday, December 17th.

Based in Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, Trombetta has been a leading manufacturer of industrial work solenoids, DC contactors, electronic controls and engineering services for over seventy years.
